

Internship Opportunity at MEMANTA in Nicaragua

We are a small organisation working at a remote beach on Nicaragua's Pacific Coast with a focus on sea turtle conservation.

We engage in Sea turtle nest protection, Hatchery management, general Biodiversity protection, Human-nature relationships, Ecosystem management and Sustainable resource use.

Each year between July and January, we are looking for enthusiastic individuals who'd like to work with us and gain experience in an intercultural setting.

Typical duties:

- Night-time patrols on the beach
- Monitoring and Management of the sea turtle hatchery
- Data collection and analysis
- Gardening, Forest management and Field work
- Maintenance and further Development of the project infrastructure
- Outreach & Collaboration with the local community

How about an internship at the beach?

We offer internships from 4 weeks onwards. We provide training, professional assistance and personal support. Interns are required to pay for their accommodation, food and free-time activities which are provided at the project site.

Further info:
memanta.org

Apply:
mail@memanta.org

We're looking forward to your message!

